CHARACTERS:

Tina and Rachel - Two candy lovers

Tina and Rachel enter with their baskets of candy.

TINA: Come on, over here!

RACHEL: What are we doing out here with this candy?

TINA: We can't eat it inside! Mom will catch us and say, "That's enough!"

RACHEL: But if we eat it out here in this sun, all that chocolate is gonna melt!

TINA: Not if we eat it fast enough!

RACHEL: You have a good point! Let's pig out!

They both sit on the edge of the stage and dive into their candy.

TINA: Oh I love Easter candy. It is the best!

RACHEL: Really? You think so?

TINA: I'll take Easter candy over any other holiday. It is the greatest!

RACHEL: Greater than Christmas?

TINA: Greater than Christmas, greater than Valentine's, greater than Halloween.

SKIT

RACHEL: (gasps) Tell me you didn't just say that!

TINA: I said it and I meant it!

RACHEL: Okay, but what's the greatest of all the Easter candies?

TINA: Oooh, that's a tough one.

RACHEL: Okay, let's try this. Jelly beans, or Peeps?

TINA: Are you kidding? Get out with that question! The Peeps are better!

RACHEL: Okay. Reese's Peanut Butter Eggs or marshmallow creme eggs?

TINA: I love a Reese's, but give me the marshmallow any day.

RACHEL: Hollow chocolate bunnies or solid?

TINA: Call me crazy, I'll take the hollow. I dunno, there's just something better about 'em.

RACHEL: Okay, how about this. Chocolate bunny or Cadbury egg?

TINA: Cadbury all the way.

RACHEL: Cadbury or Marshmallow creme?

TINA: Cadbury!

RACHEL: Cadbury, or Peeps?

TINA: Rachel, that's like asking me to choose between eating and breathing.

RACHEL: What if you could only have one in your basket for the year? Which one would you choose?

TINA: I wouldn't want to live in a world where I have to make that choice.

RACHEL: But if you had to!

TINA: Okay, fine! The Peeps. But the following year, I better get a whole mess of Cadbury eggs!

SKIT

RACHEL: All right, fair enough. (pause as she eats candy) Peeps... or Jesus?

TINA: Or Jesus?

RACHEL: If you had to choose. A basket full of Peeps, or Jesus?

TINA: Rachel, I love Peeps. I love 'em regular, and I love how they blow up in the microwave.

RACHEL: Oh I love that too.

TINA: But they can't take the place of Jesus. Jesus is the whole reason we have Easter to begin with. And let's not forget the sweetest part of Easter. He died to save us.

RACHEL: Yeah. What a sweet guy.

TINA: He's the sweetest. He's the best. Rachel, I tell ya, I love Peeps. I love everything about Easter. But I'll never choose anything over my Jesus. He's greater than Peeps. He's sweeter than Peeps. And he's the best thing that ever happened to me.
